Our legal basis for collecting, using and sharing information

The main legal bases we rely on when we process personal information are as follows:

It is necessary for us to perform a task which is in the public interest or to exercise our official duties as a Trust

This broad legal basis is applicable to most of the processing we do involving personal data, particularly involving pupil and student data.

Privacy Notice

It is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation

This is applicable where a specific law requires us to collect or share personal data (this usually involves pupil, employee or governor data). This will include sharing data with the Department for Education (DfE), Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (HMRC) or HM Courts and Tribunal Service (e.g. following a court order).

It is necessary for the performance of a contract

This is applicable when we enter into a contract with our employees, parents (for paid services) or with our service providers.

The data subject has given their consent

Consent is not required for most of the processing we do, however, there are occasions when we do ask for consent. For example,

- To collect and use biometric information (eg fingerprints and facial images) to be used for identification purposes.
- To send direct marketing or fundraising information by email or text, where you would not have a reasonable expectation that your data would be used in this way or have previously objected to this.
- To take and use photographs, digital or video images and displaying, publishing or sharing these in a public arena (such as on social media, on the Trust or school's website; in the Press; in the prospectus; newsletter etc), where you would not have a reasonable expectation that your images would be used in this way, or your rights override the legitimate interests of the Trust.
- To share personal data with third parties (e.g. professionals, agencies or organisations) where you have a genuine choice as to whether your data will be shared, for example when offering services which you do not have to accept or agree to receive.

Where we are processing your data with your consent, you have the right to withdraw that consent. To do this, please contact the Trust at admin@plymouthcast.org.uk. We will let you know if there are any non-obvious consequences of you withdrawing consent.

Privacy Notice

The processing is necessary to protect the vital interests of the data subject or someone else

This is applicable where a person's life could be at risk and we need to share or make available information to help them. This could involve sharing serious allergy information with staff, paramedics or other medical professionals, or other information requested by the police or social services to assist them in their enquiries to protect that person.

The processing is necessary for our legitimate interests as a Trust or the legitimate interests of a third party

This is applicable where the processing is not required by law but is of clear benefit to the Trust or the data subject; there is limited privacy impact on individuals and the individual reasonably expects us to use their data in this way. This legal basis is not relied upon where the Trust is processing the data to perform its official tasks.

When we process 'special category' data, we must have another legal basis. Special category data is personal data which reveals:

a person's racial or ethnic origin, political opinion, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, genetic data, biometric data (such as fingerprints), health, sex life or sexual orientation.

The main legal bases we rely on when we process this type of data are as follows:

The data subject has given explicit consent

This is applicable where we ask for biometric data such as fingerprints or use facial recognition technology to identify students or employees.

The processing is necessary for performing any right or obligation which is imposed on the Trust in relation to employment, social security and social protection law (e.g. safeguarding individuals at risk; protection against unlawful acts; prevention against fraud)

This is applicable where we are performing our duties under employment related laws e.g. health and safety, equality or tax or where we have taken action to safeguard individuals at risk.

Privacy Notice

It is necessary to protect the vital interests of any person where the data subject is physically or legally incapable of giving consent is could be relied upon in situations where someone has become seriously ill on our premises and we are asked by medical practitioners (such as paramedics), to share information we know about that person's health or allergies.

The processing is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims

We may share or use special category data where legal action is being considered or underway.

The processing is necessary in the substantial public interest is may be relied upon in circumstances where our processing is necessary to safeguard children or others at risk or where we respond to requests from the Police or law enforcement bodies, to assist in an investigation to prevent or detect an unlawful act.

The processing is necessary for the assessment of the working capacity of the employee

This will be applicable where an employee has been absent from work due to illness or injury, and we need to assess whether they are fit to return to work.

This list is not exhaustive.
